I am making a game and I have found that when my users play the game, it has a really poor quality voice. I'd like to find a way to get the name of the songs I'm using in my app so I can use it in conjunction with code I've made to affect the music. How would I go about getting the text of a UILabel and then converting it to a NSString so I can work with it? A: If you want to get the name of song as you play it. Then use the AudioPlayerDelegate Play a song without media controls Refer to the documentation to add a delegate to your audio player, and override the - (void)audioPlayerDidFinishPlaying:(AVAudioPlayer *)player successfully:(BOOL)flag method. Look for the bpm in the player object. That is the name of the song. Q: Nested SQL Queries with different column names I have to run nested queries to get certain results in one output. SELECT * FROM dbo.[P_NO_COMMERCIAL_CUSTOMERS] WHERE P_C_ID=37 AND C_O_CITY='SYSADMIN' SELECT * FROM dbo.[P_NO_COMMERCIAL_CUSTOMERS] WHERE P
