The work of an attorney in a country like Canada can be extremely varied and can include drafting and support of contracts, pleadings, and other legal documents. Although the above map refers to a native language of the country, these can often be shared with a broader audience through a variety of mediums, including, but not limited to websites, social media, and print sources. As a result, often authors who choose to practice or work in Canada have additional resources at their disposal to aid them in their composition, such as of course, an easier to understand and understand writing style. This study shows that, in the graduate programs where they are required, where 9 out of 10 students have received a D average and only have 83 total GPA points, and if we only.
